

Fifth Annual

Winter CARD

Creative Activities & Research Days

November 2023

Welcome: It is my pleasure to welcome you to the 5th Winter Creative Activities & Research Days at Radford University. It is with excitement we now celebrate the end of every semester with displays of students presenting the new knowledge they created while working closely with faculty and other students to answer questions relevant to society.

We want to thank the faculty who provide these distinctive opportunities for our students to gain work-based learning experiences. We know the experience students get in tackling ambiguous processes and solutions, transforms them well beyond learning skills in their disciplines, to include being more engaged in their workplace even a decade later, developing critical thinking and communication skills which are the most desired Career Readiness skills by employers, and even helping get that first job as 86% of employers indicate they are more likely to hire students who have conducted a research project with faculty.

We hope you find the students presenting this week as inspirational as we do in OURS and look forward to seeing the results of that inspiration in the years to come!

-With Highlander Pride, Dr. Joe Wirgau, Director of the Office of Undergraduate Research & Scholarship

Winter CARD Coordinators in OURS

Joe Wirgau, Director
Jennifer McDonel, Associate Director
Grace Bryant, Administrative Assistant
Kate Mullins, Graduate Assistant
Anna Ruff, Graduate Assistant
Cora Burt, Executive Student Assistant
Abbi Green, Executive Student Assistant
Lily McConkey, Executive Student Assistant

The Following Individuals are Acknowledged for Their Contributions:

Jeff Aspelmeier, Chair, Department of Psychology
Beth Johnson, Director of Library Operations
Jonathan Mayer, Manager for Printing and Postal Services
Hunter Woods, Graduate Assistant, Center for Gender Studies

About the Cover Art: The cover art is a creation of Cora Burt, a second year Art major at Radford University.

I am truly honored to contribute to this program through my artwork. I aimed to evoke a sense of familial warmth and playfulness, mirroring the joy I associate with decorating gingerbread and the holiday season.

Engaging in undergraduate research at Radford University has truly been transformative for me. OURS, coupled with the guidance of my mentor, Dr. Joe Wirgau, has not only opened doors to valuable research experiences but has also led to friendships that have given me a second family. I can't imagine my Radford University journey without the research, OURS, and Dr. Wirgau, who has been both a guide and a source of joy and confidence.

Winter CARD was what I consider to be my introduction into the realm of research, offering a unique platform for students like myself to share knowledge, express creativity, and grow as (gingerbread) people. The event's inclusive nature, drawing participants from diverse majors, results in an eclectic mix of ideas and interests—something I aimed to convey through my artwork.

Expectations for Participating in Winter CARD:

The Honor Pledge at Radford University not only applies to classes, it encompasses all events including Winter CARD. Each student at Radford University has made a commitment to support and uphold the Honor Pledge without compromise or exception.

Radford University (University) is committed to fostering an environment that is safe and brave, pluralistic and inclusive; and conducive to academic inquiry, free expression, student engagement, and student success. An academic community exists on the basis of shared values and principles. At the University, student members of the community are expected to uphold and abide by these values and principles that form the basis of the Standards of Student Conduct (Standards). These Standards are embodied within a set of core values that include integrity, fairness, respect, trust, freedom, community, and responsibility.

When it comes to complex academic and public problems, informed people can often hold differing views, and a diversity of perspectives can lead to individual and collective growth. Disagreement should be thoughtful and respectful, and criticism of another’s view should be coupled with evident and empathetic care for the person who holds it. Please think of all of our various learning environments as opportunities for building community, including the presentations that are a part of Winter CARD, and consider your actions and words appropriately.
